

The Parzival Project

Dialogues

This section of The Parzival Project is dedicated to the promotion of dialogue about the themes and principles that inspire our work.

If you have an article, comment or suggestions for further external links and publications, please let us know and we will consider them for inclusion.

Help us build a Community of Practice for thoughtful transformation.

Click on the left-hand menu for more information:

Right Question, Right Time

A series of questions intended to prompt self exploration and reflection, for individuals, those in leadership positions, and those planning change for their organizations

Article 1 – ‘Resistance is Futile’ – an exploration of the problem of resistance to change, by Jon Chapman

Article 2 – ‘The Inner Work of Leadership’ – an article exploring the personal psychology of meaning, integration and change in relation to leadership, by Jon Chapman